SCHOOL FOR BOYS LOCATES IN COVINA

FRUIT RETURNS FOR VALLEY ENCOURAGING

From present indications, the outlook for a very prosperous season to the citrus growers in the valley is assured. The returns from the early shipments of navel oranges are now being received by the growers. The payments are coming in time to relieve the financial tension of the tax-paying season.

The Covina Fruit Exchange announces that through the three associations comprising the exchange there have been shipped to date 260 cars, which represent about one-half of their navel crop. It is estimated that the returns to the Covina district this season for the navel and valencia crop will exceed $2,000,000.

The Charter Oak management states that to Thursday evening it had shipped this year 131 cars of navels, which represents about 55 per cent of the navel output. With the exception of one year, the present season will be the most prosperous in the history of the Charter Oak district. The money received from the fruit in this district is all tributary to Covina, the merchants of our city reaping a large percentage of the benefit.

TO CHOOSE SCHOOL TRUSTEES AT ELECTION ON MARCH 27

Election of trustees for the Covina union high school and the Covina elementary school will be held on Friday, March 27. The election for the elementary school will be held in the Covina grammar school building from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. The high school election will be held in the respective grammar schools of the Covina, Baldwin Park, Charter Oak and West Covina districts.

On the high school board the terms of George F. Chamberlen and Charles E. Paige expire. The term of Thos. B. Reed expires on the grammar school board.

COVINA MAN'S CAR STOLEN WHILE PARKED IN METROPOLIS

J. B. Raymond had an unfortunate experience last Sunday, and is minus his automobile. About noon he left it parked at Eighth and Olive, Los Angeles. Returning in about twenty-five minutes, the machine was gone and has not been heard of since. The Automobile club is working on the theft.

STATISTICS SHOW COVINA IS GROWING FROM WITHIN

Covina is growing, and according to the birth statistics at the city hall, additional kindergarten facilities will be required before long. 1924 registered 250 births, as against 122 deaths. The report for January was 12 births and 13 deaths, and for February 23 births and 8 deaths.

Plans for Expenditure of Quarter Million Dollars

The beautiful 100-acre rancho at the base of the San Jose hills, one and one-half miles southeast of Covina, the property of H. M. Houser, has been acquired this week by the owners of the Pasadena Military academy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Henry, for the establishment of the California Preparatory school for boys. This important deal has been rumored for several weeks and it was confirmed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Mr. H. M. Houser.

This is one of the most important transactions which has occurred in Covina for many years, and will involve the expenditure of over a quarter of a million dollars. It is the purpose of Mr. and Mrs. Henry to move the Pasadena school to this new location, and when this is done it will be known as the California Preparatory school for boys. The military features of the present school will be eliminated.

The site is in all respects one of the most beautiful in Southern California, being on a high mesa of the San Jose hills, facing the Sierra Madre mountain range to the north.

Plans are already being prepared for the expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars in buildings, which will include an administration building, school building, dining hall, swimming pool and gymnasium, three or four dormitory units, and four or five faculty cottages. These buildings will be erected on the east end of the mesa, the entire group to be of Spanish type, fireproof, and with every modern convenience. At the west end of the mesa, Mr. and Mrs. Henry propose to build their own residence, in a corresponding type. The out-buildings will be placed on the flat below, including a dairy building and stables for the riding horses. The school will carry on farming, producing its own vegetables, owning a fine dairy herd. At the rear of the school units will be a large athletic field.

The Pasadena Military academy now enrolls 120 students and has outgrown its present location, which called for a change in site. The initial buildings will be built to accommodate 150 students. The grades will cover an eight-year course, four years of elementary work and four years of preparatory work. It has had a college accrediting for the past five years, and the owners expect to make the new school conform to the highest requirements of eastern colleges. Colonel C. M. Wood, the present superintendent, will continue with the school in its new location, as will also the entire personnel of the present faculty.

The Pasadena Military school was established eight years ago with an enrollment of twenty pupils, and has steadily grown to its present size, under the administration of Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the latter being president of the institution.

Mr. H. M. Houser is one of the pioneers of this valley, and has owned the property since the death of its former owner, Col. F. M. Chapman. Under Mr. Houser's ownership the property has been greatly improved, and the improvements were factors in its purchase by the new owners. Mr. Houser is a director of the First National bank of this city, where the deal is now in escrow.

G. W. DUDDERAR CELEBRATES EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY

G. W. Dudderar of 659 Loma avenue, Long Beach, was given a dinner party last Sunday at the home of his children, Long Beach, in celebration of his eighty-second birthday. A beautiful birthday cake formed the centerpiece of the table, while decorations appropriate for the day, in the way of flags, cherries and hatchets, were used.

The honor guest was born in Lincoln county, Kentucky, moving to Illinois in 1853, to Los Angeles in 1890, and to Long Beach seven years ago. For a number of years he was a resident and business man of Covina. He served for three years in the Civil war.

Members of the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dudderar, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dudderar and Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Dudderar and two sons, Glenn and Merle, of Covina; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dudderar and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. W. Palmer and son, Waldo, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Avis of Monterey Park; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sommers of Ontario, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Maxwell of Long Beach.

D. A. R. IN ALL-DAY MEETING AT NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE

Covina chapter of the D. A. R. held an enjoyable all-day meeting Tuesday at the neighborhood house. Merwin Sprague, chairman, presided over the day in sewing on garments for myriads, making twenty articles of clothing. After luncheon, the regent, Mrs. W. M. Warren, gave a report of the D. A. R. state conference which she attended last week at Oakland, and also told of a visit to the Angel island immigrant station.

Funds were voted for the purchase of shrubs and trees to be planted at Merwin. Friday of next week was set for the tree-planting, which will occur at about 4 p. m., with appropriate exercises.

The chapter also voted to endorse the letter-writing campaign for the benefit of Southern California.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. W. A. Jones.

SUCCESS MARKS BENEFIT FOR ORPHAN CHILDREN

The entertainment for the benefit of the David and Margaret Home for Children, held on Friday evening in the auditorium of the Covina Methodist Episcopal church, under the auspices of the ladies of the Home Missionary society, was a pronounced success in every particular. The program was well balanced and the audience showed its appreciation for each number.

The program consisted of organ numbers by Miss Helen Nicholson, a musical instructor in the Los Angeles high school, readings by Miss Dorothy Pink of Pasadena, graduate of the original Cummeck school of speech at Northwestern University, and solos by Mr. Myron Douglass, baritone. Miss Nicholson accompanied both of the soloists. All of these artists appeared on the program twice, in addition to responding to insistent encores.

COVINA LAUNDRY FORCE HOSTS TO MONROVIA LAUNDRY

E. I. Haviland, manager of the local Troy laundry, and his employees were hosts last Friday night to the Monrovia laundry at a banquet served in the private diningroom of the Palace of Sweets. Plates were laid for twenty, including F. E. Whyte of Pomona, general manager, and T. J. Brownrigg, district manager of the Southern Service company, both of whom made after-dinner speeches on efficiency and salesmanship. Both the Monrovia and the local laundry are members of the Southern Service company.

DR. LUCAS TO ADDRESS PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

"The Health of the Runabout Child" by Dr. Palmer Lucas of San Francisco, will be the subject of a round-table discussion at the Covina grammar school auditorium next Tuesday afternoon at 3 p. m. The following mothers of kindergarten and pre-school children will take part: Mmes. Percy Jackson, S. M. Fisher, W. P. Megan, Joe Wilke, Bigelow, Paul Custer, and Ralph Crook. The program promises to be interesting and all mothers are urged to be present.

NUMEROUS CASES TRIED IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT

George Rocha, a Filipino residing in the Filipino camp at Charter Oak, was given a thirty-day jail sentence Tuesday last for disturbing the peace. This young man had proved a disturbing element in the camp for some time and on this account was given a straight jail sentence without an option of a fine.

Lyle Comer of Baldwin Park was handed a fine of $15 and a thirty-day suspended jail sentence for reckless driving. The jail sentence was suspended on condition that he surrender his driving license for ninety days.

Andrew Alcala of Baldwin Park was fined $25 or 25 days in jail by the court on Monday for disturbing the peace. The young man decided that he would save the cost of his board by lodging in the county bastille for twenty-five days.

BURGLARS ARE OPERATING IN RESIDENCE DISTRICTS

Saturday, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, the residence of Clyde King on San Bernardino road was burglarized. The thief took several articles of jewelry and a gun.

Between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock Monday evening, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hostetter was entered by a sneak thief who carried away with him a revolver and several pairs of shoes and socks.

Monday evening, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock, an attempt was made to enter the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilke on Navilla Place. The robber was undoubtedly frightened away by the return of the occupants of the home, as he had only succeeded in cutting the screens and, apparently, had not gained entrance to the residence.

CLUB DRAMATIC SECTION TO PRESENT TWO PLAYS

The program at the Monday Afternoon club next week is given over to two one-act plays, "Trifles" and "Suppressed Desires," both written by Susan Glaspell. The talent of the dramatic section, supplemented by outside artists, insures a program that will make next Monday a red-letter day in the year.

In "Trifles" the characters will be taken by Mrs. E. J. Summerhays as Mrs. Hale, Miss Helen Broadwell as Mrs. Peters, Phil Shipway as Mr. Hale, Mr. W. A. Lee as Mr. Peters, and Robert Broadwell as Mr. Henderson. Mrs. E. H. Sprague, Mrs. Ronald Taylor and Mrs. E. H. Berry will assume the roles in "Suppressed Desires."

Mr. Lee is arranging the properties for the plays, which were chosen by Mrs. E. H. Sprague, the chairman of the dramatic section.

COUNTY OFFICIALS ARE GUESTS OF CHAMBER

Supervisor Prescott Cogswell and Commissioner George Jones of the county road department were guests at the Covina chamber of commerce at its noon luncheon on Tuesday. On account of the presence of these gentlemen, the capacity of the private dining room of the Palace of Sweets was taxed to the limit.

Messrs. Cogswell and Jones spent the morning in going over the various road improvements in the West Covina district in company with parties interested in the construction of the new highway between Baldwin Park and the Pomona hill road.

At the luncheon Mr. Cogswell told in detail of the road construction which had been accomplished in this district during the past year. He stated, with regard to the new highway to connect the Pomona hill road and the Baldwin Park extension, that three routes were possible—Arroyo Drive, Workman, and Rowland avenues. He was not prepared to say which route would be finally accepted, but indicated that the route which met with the approval of the citizens of this section of the valley would undoubtedly be used, provided a free right of way through the entire length could be secured.

This was followed by an animated discussion of the proponents of the various routes, and at the suggestion of President Reed it was decided that committees of those interested be appointed to see what could be done as regards the necessary rights of way. The discussion brought forth the fact that on the Arroyo Drive route little difficulty was anticipated in securing rights of way. On the Rowland avenue route, over one and one-half miles of rights of way would be necessary, which, unfortunately, would run diagonally with the majority of the property lines.

Following the luncheon, Supervisor Cogswell and Commissioner Jones were shown by a local committee the proposed extension of Barranca street north to Cienega avenue to connect with Ben Lemon. Commissioner Jones stated that he would prepare the necessary maps and descriptions for the committee to secure the right of way for this much-needed extension.

PUEBLO CHORUS RENDERS CONCERT AT COVINA CHURCH

A sacred concert was given Sunday evening in the auditorium of the Covina Methodist church by the choir of the Methodist church of Pueblo. This choir has over thirty-five voices and is directed by Mr. B. C. Beech of Whittier. Four anthems were rendered. Miss Bruin, formerly of London, rendered a pleasing vocal solo. Miss Esther Scholtz presided at the piano and Mr. Lanse Smith at the pipe organ. This choir is making quite a name for its artistic musical work throughout the valley.

Law Enforcement

The thinking public of this nation is becoming alarmed at the apparent disregard for discipline and disregard for law and constituted authority among the young men and women of the present day.

If this tendency is to be overcome we must not obey the law as individuals, but should rally to the support of law enforcement everywhere and at all times. We must teach respect for law to our children both by precept and example. If our boys and girls are taught to observe the law there will be less need for law enforcement a generation hence. Lawlessness and roits are not born in a night; they are the result of lack of obedience to discipline in the home. We have heard men criticize the officers of the law when they themselves did not make their own children behave at the breakfast table. The national president of the Parent-Teacher association said last year in an address at Lincoln, Nebraska, that we are spending a million to educate our children in our schools, then after their school days we spend a greater amount on the same men and women in the enforcement of law. The man who complains of the lawlessness of the bank robber, of the holdup criminal, or the crime of a cabinet officer, but himself under cover of darkness or some other hidden secret way purchases illicit liquor is like the one of whom he complains, a dangerous citizen. And when men lose respect for law they are too near anarchy to be known as desirable citizens. Some one has said: "A man who violates law is neither a democrat nor a republican—he is a criminal." Secretary Hughes has recently said: "Everyone is ready to sustain the law he likes; that is not in the proper sense respect for law and order. The test of respect for law is when the law is upheld even when it hurts." And Abraham Lincoln said: "Let every man remember that he who violates the law tramps on the blood of the fathers and tears asunder the charter of his own and his children's liberty."

We do not doubt the stability of our government, and we have the utmost confidence in our citizenship. The major part of our people are thoroughly loyal and law-abiding, but we must hold on with a firm hand to our ideals that are American. This will call for a patriotism as brave as military courage. There is a patriotism that is needed in civilian life, for battles are to be fought against selfishness, extravagance and licentiousness. We need men not only to die, but to live for their country, willing to give time and talent for the public good. There is plenty of service we can render in private life. We must stand for the enforcement of good laws, the repeal of bad laws, and the enactment of needed new laws.

Why You Should Build a Home

The high cost of building in any normal time, such as this, is a myth. The purchasing power of a dollar shows more results in a home today than ever before. We forget the price of butter and eggs twenty years ago—and seem to lament the fact that the house in which the eldest son was born twenty years ago could not be duplicated for twice the money today. Truly the best argument for building a home now. The average home twenty years ago had few "fixings"—floor rugs, special furnaces, push buttons, hardwood floors, garages, water heaters, cemented basements, grounds made by landscape gardeners in three months—these are now considered necessary, even in a comparatively plain home. Why shouldn't a house cost more money, even though the purchasing power of money were not reduced?

If you build, consider lumber. It is the cheapest building material for a California house. This state and those northern states adjoining are pouring in their cargo and ear of lumber offerings of various woods without stint. All in all, good lumber is cheaper in California than any other place in the world. Lumber is durable, dependable. A wooden house can be more readily altered than a structure of almost any other kind of material. A wooden house suits California climatic conditions, and the silent testimony of the vast majority of homes built of wood in California compels consideration.

When it comes to financing the home building, you will find no one more ready with practical advice, and practical assistance, than your local contractors, your local lumber dealers, your local bankers. The banker knows that banking is never safer than it is in a community where a large proportion of the residents are home owners. And private money lenders are advancing a larger proportion of the cost of a good residence than they are for any other object we know of.

NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE ENTERTAINED AT RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Aschenbrenner entertained Tuesday evening with a reception for their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reedy of Alhambra, whose marriage occurred recently. There were about twenty relatives present to extend their felicitations to the newly-married couple. During the evening a musical program was given, which consisted of vocal solos by Ronald Taylor, vocal numbers by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Andrew Lumde, Mrs. J. P. Overholtzer, Mr. S. S. Aschenbrenner and Mr. G. W. Aschenbrenner; piano numbers by Gladys Aschenbrenner and by Mabel Ross. The livingrooms were prettily decorated with asparagus ferns and baskets of spring flowers, and a dainty supper was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lumde, Mrs. Overholtzer, Mrs. S. S. Aschenbrenner, and Miss Hazel Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Pitzer will attend a picnic to be held Sunday at Santa Monica.

GLENCOSA DE MOLAYS SWAMP GOLDEN STATE CHAPTER

Staging a comeback after two stinging defeats, the Glencosa basketball team from Covina swamped the Golden State chapter 36 to 11 in a game played in Los Angeles Monday night. The local boys played good basketball throughout the game, leading from the first whistle till the last. Arnel, Glencosa forward, was high point man with ten digits.

Next Wednesday night the Glencosans meet the Long Beach chapter in a game to be played in the Citrus gym. This is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season, as the seaside squad has not yet been defeated. The game will start at 7:30 and a large crowd is expected to be out to witness the struggle.

Mrs. J. P. Overholtzer entertained the teachers of the junior department of the Brethren Sunday-school and their families at dinner Wednesday evening at her home on East Center street. There were about twenty-four present.

LOCAL BUSINESS SUSPENDED DURING INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

During the hours of the inaugural ceremonies at Washington on Wednesday business was practically suspended in Covina. Citizens in every walk of life gathered in halls, stores and homes to hear the President's message over the radio.

Through the courtesy of Harry R. Webber, the local representative for the Atwater Kent radio, the entire student body and faculty of the high school were enabled to hear the President's address over one of these radios, installed in the Woman's clubhouse. To enable the students to attend in a body all classes were dismissed between the hours of nine and eleven, Pacific time. The reception of the address was excellent and at its close a rousing vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Webber.

The employees of the Covina Orange Growers' association enjoyed the presidential inaugural ceremonies through the courtesy of Mr. George Meek, proprietor of the Covina music store, who had his salesman, Mr. McCarthy, operate a Radiola super-heterodyne receiving set at their packinghouse. The music and speech came in clear and with plenty of volume.

HUSTLING AUTO SALESMAN JOINS KNOX MOTORS

W. H. Cass is the latest acquisition to the sales forces on automobile row, having joined the Knox Motors, local representatives of the Maxwell-Chrysler cars. Mr. Cass has sold Maxwell and Chrysler cars throughout this valley for the past two years, having been head of the sales force of the Mooney Motor company in Monrovia during that period. With his family he will move to Covina as soon as he can secure a residence. In the classified columns he is advertising for an exchange.

CREDIT EXCHANGE BEING ESTABLISHED IN COVINA

Representatives of the Cred-Loet company, organizers of credit clearing houses throughout the country, have been in Covina this week talking with merchants and professional men in regards to the betterment of general credit conditions.

In an interview it was stated that practically all the business men expressed the need for cooperation among themselves to make Covina a safe place in which to do a credit business.

BINGHAM T. WILSON SPEAKS BEFORE COVINA ROTARY CLUB

Mr. B. T. Wilson of this city, whose reputation as a speaker is well known not only in this state, but throughout that of New York, his former home, was the speaker at the Covina Rotary club at the noon luncheon yesterday. He pictured in his inimitable manner the beauties of the San Gabriel valley as a district of homes.

STRONG DEMAND NOTED FOR COVINA IRRIGATING STOCK

The past week has seen considerable activity in the transfer of the stock of the Covina Irrigating Company, due to the anticipated shortage of water this coming summer, especially for the lands covered by the Contract, Users right. Indications point to this stock reaching a higher mark than at any time during the past seven years.

THOMASON-SMITH NUPTIALS HELD IN BRIDGES HALL

The happy culmination of a college romance occurred Tuesday, March 3rd, at 4:30 p. m., in the Mabel Bridges Hall of Music, Pomona college, Claremont, with the marriage of Earl Louis Thomason of Covina and Carroll Edyth Smith of Claremont. Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, with Valtor E. Hartley of Pomona college at the organ, Miss Geneva Moreman sang "The Greatest Wish In the World," and John McCrea, "Until," the musicians all being members of Pomona college.

The bridal party—the bride accompanied by her father, the matron of honor and the bridesmaids—was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Irven Carey of Long Beach, where Raymond C. Brooks, D. D., of Pomona college, pronounced a simple but impressive ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely creation of white crepe-backed satin, beaded with pearls and rhinestones, and carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses and lilies of the valley. The veil, edged with white Venetian lace, a family heirloom, was held in place with a coronet of Venetian lace and rhinestones and orange blossoms. A lace handkerchief, also an heirloom, was carried by the bride.

The matron of honor, Mrs. J. I. Anderson of Los Angeles, who but twelve days previous repeated her nuptial vows at the same altar, was gowned in a shell pink georgette, beaded with pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and orchid sweet peas and butterfly roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Helen Louise Shepherd of Minneapolis, Carolyn Sprague of San Dimas, Alice Northrup of Long Beach, Louise Leonhardt of Covina, Pearl Reynolds of Pomona, and Marian Cornelius of Ontario, were dressed in pastel colors—orchid, deep rose, shell pink, Nile green, lavender and turquoise blue—and carried old-fashioned nosegays of sweet peas, violets and fresias.

The ushers were Messrs. Leslie Goodson of Pomona college, Edward Pickett of San Redro, John Adams and John Irving Anderson of Los Angeles, and Malcolm MacLeod of Claremont.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Thomason of Cypress avenue, Covina, and has grown to manhood in our midst. The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith of Minnesota, has resided with her parents in Claremont while attending Pomona college.

After a short wedding trip, the young couple will reside in Covina.

"The Thief of Bagdad" at Covina Theater

The feature picture of the coming week at the Covina theater will be Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad," which will be exhibited Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights. This is one of the best known films ever made, and it is expected that all who have not seen it will be eager to do so—also many who have seen the production at its premiere showing at Hollywood will want to see it again.

Tonight (Friday) and tomorrow, a new Harry Carey production, "Soft Shoes," will be the showing. The picture is described as the king of action drama in the greatest role of his career. Lillian Rich plays opposite Carey. An "Our Gang" comedy will also be shown on these programs.

For Wednesday only, an action drama, "The Fatal Mistake," will be shown. This picture has a cast including Eva Novak, William Fairbanks, Wilfred Lucas, Dot Farley and Harry McCoy.

Thursday will be "Country Store" night, when gifts are distributed with a comedy program. The film for the evening will show Doris Kenyon in "The Love Bandit," a drama of the north-west.

Aged Woman Dies at Daughter's Home

The death of Mrs. Anna Whitford Jones occurred suddenly on Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen A. Smith, at Glendale. The deceased was the mother of Mr. S. Franklin Jones, of the firm of Winder & Jones, of this city.

The funeral services will be held today (Friday) at 2:30 in the mortuary chapel of Custer & Christiansen on South Citrus avenue.

Mrs. Jones died on her eighty-sixth birthday. For the past two years she has been residing with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, on West Bagillo street, Covina, and only a few days ago moved to the home of her daughter in Glendale. Although of advanced age, her death was entirely unexpected, as she was enjoying fair health. She moved to California from Cleveland, Ohio, two years ago. She was born at Wellington, Connecticut, March 4, 1839, marrying Isaac Henry Jones on October 21, 1862, and becoming a widow in March, 1915. Surviving her are two sons and one daughter—Henry Whitford Jones of Cleveland, S. Franklin Jones of Covina, and Mrs. Helen A. Smith of Glendale.

During her brief residence in this valley she had made many warm friends, despite her advanced age.

With Newspaper Advertising

WHEN any improvement, large or small, has been made in your store or its stocks—tell it to them through newspaper advertising. Keeping folks in touch with your business is the true purpose and function of advertising, and the merchant who overlooks this point is overlooking a big bet.

Prices on your goods are a secondary factor to the real news of your business, and every store has its news which can be made a pulling power for reader interest.

No one likes to be beguiled into reading a lot of puff and gush about some particular business in the reading columns of their newspaper. That is a form of deception, and no good ever came from deception.

It is not beyond the ordinary merchant to give his advertising a personal, newsy touch, and this, supplemented with prices and description of his merchandise, makes advertising worth many times its cost.

COVINA BOYS ENJOY VACATION IN CANYON

Thirteen members of the Y. M. C. A. Pioneer club of Covina, under the leadership of Harold Williams, enjoyed an outing last Friday and Saturday at the "Red Triangle Cabin" in San Gabriel canyon.

Stunts and games around the fireplace filled the evening on Friday. Saturday, after each Pioneer had prepared his breakfast, a treasure hunt was indulged in which took the boys over a long trail. Tests in fire-building and water-boiling were made, with a game of baseball in the afternoon between the Wildcats and the Polecats. The boys returned home Saturday afternoon, having had a glorious time.

BROADWELL'S STORE PROVIDES FOR ADDITIONAL STOCKS

The greatest asset to any community are progressive merchants and well stocked stores and in this particular Covina is doubly blessed. Covina merchants have been recognized for many years as the most progressive in the San Gabriel valley, carrying stocks which are not equaled in towns of three or four times the size of Covina.

The Argus especially desires to call attention this week to the improvements which have been made during the past month in Broadwell's dry goods store. To provide space for the ever increasing stock, this firm has increased its floor capacity by nearly 1800 square feet through extension of the deck at the rear of the main floor. This firm is the oldest in Covina in the dry goods business and from the time of its organization has carried the largest stock of this character of merchandise in the San Gabriel valley. The Covina store is the parent house for stores of similar size in the towns of Hemet and Burbank.

The policy of this store has and always will be to carry such a line of goods that there is no excuse for the women of the valley to trade in the large Los Angeles stores. This is also a policy which has been pursued by the many progressive business firms of this city.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PLANS FOR EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The Christian church has completed the details for its evangelistic campaign which will be on from March 15th to Easter under the team work of Evangelist George B. Kellums and Rev. Geo. G. Elder. Rev. Kellums comes from Kansas and is one of the foremost evangelists in the Christian church. Rev. Elder worked with him for three years in the east as singing evangelist. Quoting from the Iola, Kansas Register: "George B. Kellums who is recognized as one of America's foremost evangelists, is being enthusiastically received by Iola, and the masterful sermons of this eloquent and likeable man are attracting wide comment."

LARK ELLEN BALL TEAM WINS LEAGUE PENNANT

The Lark Ellen basket ball team has scored a wonderful victory this year for so small a school in carrying off the league championship. It has won against Charter Oak, Puente, West Covina, Covina grammar and Baldwin Park, with a total score of 83 points for and 32 against, and will be presented with the league banner. Lark Ellen is the next to the smallest school in the league, but it has a plucky team that went out to win. The girls on the team are: Edith Coffman, Lucile Culhoun, Glenice Evans, Flora Belle Matney, Eugenia Benneson, Virginia Ashbaugh, Maxine Lutyen, Helena Briggs and Mildred Shively.

ENGINEERING CREW EXPLORING PUDDINGSTONE DAM SITE

He stated briefly that he was now prepared to rush the preliminary work on the Puddingstone dam and indicated that the contract would be let during the present year. A crew is now on the location exploring the foundations and sidewalls. This dam will probably be among the first to be completed under the county flood control program.

Sanitation District Formation Explained by County Engineer

Like a bolt out of a clear sky the question of the formation of a sanitation district to include the territory of Glendora, Azusa, Baldwin Park, Covina, Puente, West Covina and San Dimas, to take care for all time to come of the sewage of this large territory was sprung upon the people of the valley this week, at a meeting of representative men from all these interested points, held in the private diningroom of the Palace of Sweets on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

This meeting was called following one of similar character which had been held on the previous night at the offices of the chamber of commerce in El Monte, when representatives of the territory of Pasadena, Monrovia, Duarte, San Gabriel, Alhambra, Monterey Park, Emona Acres, and El Monte were present.

The meeting in Covina was presided over by George H. Maxfield, chairman of the board of trustees of this city. Mr. Maxfield, in his opening remarks, stated that the disposal of the sewage of the upper San Gabriel valley was one of the most important matters now before the people and that the meeting had been called to ascertain whether or not this section would be interested in becoming a part of the great metropolitan outfall sewer system now contemplated by all the territory of this county lying west of the San Gabriel river outside of the corporate limits of Los Angeles. He further stated that already five districts had been organized, three of them having voted upon the question within the past month, and that it was very apparent to those acquainted with present conditions that unless that territory of the central San Gabriel valley lying east of the river desired to wait for twenty-five years to solve this problem that they must at once take steps to become a part of the great system proposed to carry the sewage to the ocean. As far as Covina was concerned, it had been working for the past ten years to evolve a practical system to solve this problem, and he felt that he expressed the sentiment of the city when he said that steps should be taken to organize this sanitation district.

He then introduced Mr. Warner, sanitation engineer for the county of Los Angeles, under whose supervision and direction the plans had been prepared for the sanitation districts already organized. Mr. Warner, in his remarks, made it very plain that there was no desire on the part of the county or his office to force a district upon this territory against the wishes of the people. He said in part: "It is rather a surprise to us to know that all the territories to the west have wanted to take immediate action in the building of an outfall sewer to the ocean. When we outlined this program we felt that it would take fifteen or twenty years to connect up all the systems in the west part of the county. But the facts are that three districts have actually voted their bonds to the extent of $9,000,000, and other territories have come with the cry to be included in this system.

"We said we would stop at the San Gabriel river, and now I am here today to tell you gentlemen what is proposed to be done, so you can determine whether or not you want to be included in this plan. There is no doubt as to the need on the part of the cities and communities for a sewer disposal system, but whether or not we should go far enough to include the faria area, is a question. With a certain amount of proprietary interest, the owners of farm lands can rightfully say, 'We have no need of a sewer system.' On the other hand, certain of these ranch owners feel that if this territory is going to be developed, it should be assured of the sewage disposal off the land and provided a facility that will be necessary a little later on.

"This metropolitan sewer plant was begun about one and one-half years ago. I have had it in mind for six years, attempting to build in my department to fit in with the plan, so that in twenty or twenty-five years those things built would fit into the future. District No. 1 was formed about one year ago. Other areas took up the same thing, and seeing what No. 1 had done, took immediate action and formed themselves into a district, and later voted to issue the bonds. These districts carried bonds to the amount of $9,000,000,000, with sweeping majorities. So it seems apparent that instead of taking fifteen or twenty years to work out this plan, you will require us to work it out much quicker.

"We have taken up this program in the cities of the San Gabriel valley west of the San Gabriel river. We felt that particularly Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra, San Gabriel, Monterey Park should participate in this plan. As a matter of fact, El Monte was the first to get busy, and the other cities of Monrovia, Arcadia, Alhambra, Monterey Park and Puente seemed just as anxious to get in as the others.

"As a result of the meeting held in El Monte on Friday night of last week, you people have taken an interest in the movement and it seems quite likely, from information received, about the only trouble I will have will be trying to keep up with you folks. If the people of your district want it, we are going to make every effort to put it through, and if the people are opposed to the project, we will do everything we can to stop it.

"In the event of your district being formed, it will be governed by a board of directors, consisting of the presiding officers of the boards of trustees of the cities interested. The board of supervisors will also name one of their members as a member of the governing board. Such is the provision of the act under which the districts are formed. It seems quite a fair way of governing such a thing. It does not give any area or population arbitrary powers. Pasadena has probably three times the population of any other city, and yet would have only one vote in the affairs of the district in which it is located.

"That, in a nutshell, is the story of the sanitation district. It is up to the people to decide. As representative citizens, you could say, 'Why yes, we want to go ahead with this thing,' but in the ultimate analysis it would be the property owners or the voters who would say whether or not you should have the district. If the voters fail to vote a bond issue by a two-thirds majority, the thing could not be put over."

The various representatives present were then called upon to express their opinions. Mr. L. Case, chairman of the board of trustees of the city of Azusa, stated that no doubt his city would be a unit for the organization of the proposed district. Representatives from Puente appeared quite enthusiastic and said they would submit the plans before a mass meeting of their citizens early in the month. Baldwin Park, which had a large representation present, also expressed themselves as in favor of the project. The representatives from San Dimas expressed some doubt as to whether or not that district would want to be included in the proposed program.

The representatives present at the meeting were requested to return to their respective localities and to secure an expression of opinion from their various chambers of commerce and city boards of trustees as to the desirability to organize a district composed of the central portion of the San Gabriel valley and to report at a later meeting.

Before adjournment, Mr. Maxfield and Mr. Charles Commis were elected permanent chairman and secretary, respectively, of the organization. This forward step in permanently solving the sewage question is largely due to the interest and activity of these two men who have been striving for some time to solve the question without forcing sewage farms upon territories adjoining the cities.

Following this meeting, a resolution was unanimously adopted by the trustees of the city of Covina praying for the formation of a sanitation district as provided under the act. In the event of the other cities in this neighborhood taking similar action, these petitions will be presented at an early date to the board of supervisors.

What the World Is Doing

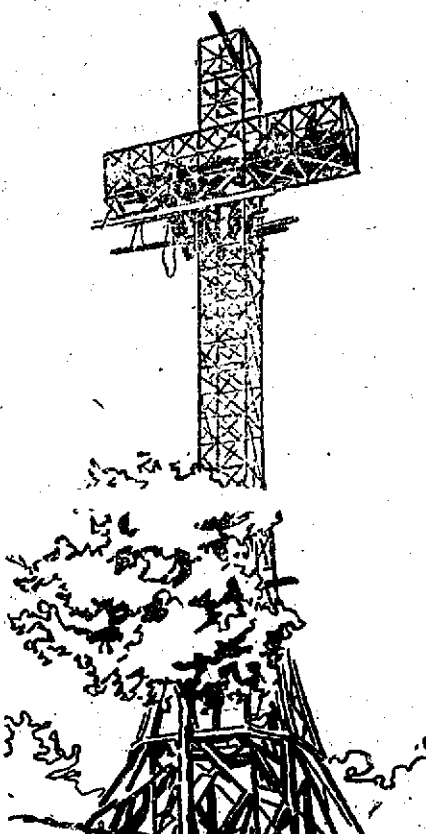

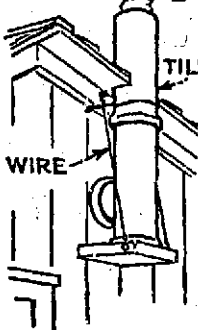

As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine

"Inverted Wells" Dug in River Beds to Save Water Supply

Digging wells in the bed of a river to save the water supply seems like nonsense, but that is what engineers in the Santa Clara valley in California are planning to do for the sake of the 116,000 acres of prune trees. The unusual method is proposed as a means of keeping the natural water supply from running into San Francisco bay. The region normally is provided with abundant artesian water from the mountains. For years it has percolated into the underlying gravel beds where it spread to the entire valley. But lately clay washed down with the freshets has formed a sort of blanket over which the water has passed without sinking into the lower strata. The "wells," as they have been called, will penetrate this accumulation of silt and allow the streams to soak down to their natural reservoir of gravel and coarse sand. Advocates of this plan point out that it will save the cost of building large dams and other irrigation projects.

A Good Farm-Shop Chimney

To lessen the fire hazard about his shop, a Nebraska farmer used a 6-in. tile for the outside chimney. The lower section has an opening on the side, in which the pipe fits, and is supported by a wooden block held by wires and nails as shown. The bottom is filled with concrete to a depth of 4 in. The upper section is cemented to the lower tile, wired to the wall, and extends well above the roof. For a building in which appearance is of secondary importance, this construction is excellent.

Electric-Lighted Skyscraper Cross to Blaze Message for Miles

As a silent preacher, a huge cross, fashioned with steel beams after the manner of a skyscraper, has been erected on the heights of historic Mount Royal at Montreal. Electric lights will make the emblem visible at night, and because of its huge size and location on the lofty summit, the cross can be seen from a considerable distance even by day.

A Washington inventor has developed apparatus that will photograph a message, transmit it by radio and reproduce it at the receiving end. The invention is expected to be especially useful in China, due to the number of characters in the language.

Renewing Worn Files

Old files, which have become badly worn, can be renewed by immersing them in a solution consisting of six parts of water and one part of nitric acid for about five minutes. The file is then rubbed a few times over the edge of a block or table padded with about two or three thicknesses of cloth. This wipes the acid from the surface of the teeth but does not remove it from the spaces between them. The file is laid down for half an hour, which allows the acid to eat the grooves deeper; it is then thoroughly washed.

Self-Tightening Paint-Pot Hanger

When painting on a ladder, it is cumbersome of the rungs to hold the paint pot, but it is much handier to have the paint pot on the right side of the ladder, held by a self-tightening hanger of the kind shown in the drawing. It can readily be swung open and loosened so that it can be shifted up or down as desired. Pushing or pulling the arm down only causes the hanger to grip the ladder more firmly.

The arm is notched to receive the bail of the paint pot, and the weight of the pot keeps the hanger securely clamped to the ladder.
